

Lammhults Design Group enters strategic partnership with internationally renowned design studio

Lammhults Design Group – the company behind some of Scandinavia’s most iconic design brands in the premium segment for public spaces and offices – is entering a strategic partnership with the internationally renowned Note (design studio).

Cristiano Pigazzini at Note (design studio) has been appointed Senior Creative Advisor to Lammhults Design Group. Together with his team, Cristiano will contribute to the continued development of the Group’s overarching design strategy – with the aim of creating solutions that meet tomorrow’s demands for functionality, sustainability, and aesthetics.

“Working with Lammhults Design Group means being part of a setting where design heritage meets innovation and forward thinking. Our shared ambition is to highlight the unique strengths of each brand – while also building something greater together. A future-proof offering where design truly makes a difference in people’s everyday lives.”

The collaboration with Note (design studio) marks a clear step in Lammhults Design Group’s ambition to shape the workplaces and meeting environments of the future – through interior solutions that not only function but also enrich and inspire.

“To meet a rapidly changing market and accelerate our growth, we must challenge ourselves both strategically and creatively,” says Beatrice Kortner Henriksson, CSO of Lammhults Design Group. “Collaborating with a renowned international creative leader brings both a valuable external perspective and top-level expertise.”

The partnership reflects Lammhults Design Group’s long-term commitment to strengthening its market position, driving sustainable growth, and offering a design experience that meets today’s needs and tomorrow’s demands.
